

Premier Safety Partners, leading provider of safety services and solutions. Most admired for our People, Partnerships and Expertise. We are excited to announce a job opening working with our aerospace manufacturing client located in Long Island, NY. This is a full time position with the possibility of transitioning to our client's organization.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

- Develop, implement, manage, and/or ensure compliance for SHE and industrial hygiene compliance programs
- Evaluate and act upon new environmental & safety regulations
- Manage site activities which impact areas of environmental and/or safety compliance with Federal, State, or Local regulations
- In collaboration with management, assist in developing and implementing site policies concerning environmental and safety issues
- Monitor and direct the facility regarding new air permits related to operations and construction
- Support sites ISO-9001 activities as required
- Supervise and provide technical guidance to the Documentation Specialist, Environmental & Safety Associate, and Environmental & Safety Specialist
- Primary contact for regulatory agencies such as EPA, DEC and OSHA for inspections, permitting, and reporting
- Utilize operational excellence principles (5S, visual management, RCA) to achieve best in class performance

REQUIREMENTS:

- B.S. degree in Environmental, Safety or related field, (5-7 years of advanced experience may be substituted)
- Minimum of 3-5 years' experience
- Must be conversant in EPA and OSHA regulations
- Experience and previous culture of driving excellence preferred

Why Premier Safety Partners, we are a full service safety and health consulting firm with a wide array of clients throughout North America. As we grow our family we are looking for energetic, passionate, committed people with a yearning for excellence. We are focused on people development and career growth.

Please submit resume and cover letter to info@premiersafetypartners.com